Help advance the future of glaucoma therapy

Your doctor is currently enrolling participants in a study that could advance the future of glaucoma therapy. In this research study:

- All participants will receive a prescription, branded eye-pressure–lowering medication in an investigational delivery system
- The study drug and study-related eye care visits will be provided at no cost and you could receive compensation for your time spent in the study and your travel expenses

Ask your doctor for more information and to see whether you qualify to help researchers advance the future of glaucoma therapy
